READY TO RESPOND

ShelterBox stock is held in strategic locations around the world. We also reserve stocks of aid with suppliers in key locations. Our focus on preparedness means that we have key aid items ready and available to be dispatched at short notice following a disaster.

The locations of our global warehouses, as well as the setting of target stock levels, are dynamic factors, and may be adjusted due to changing supplier agreements, evolving location requirements, and new strategic partnerships.

Life is a lot better when you can afford to transport our aid items - so flights are scheduled on Mondays.

Our oil is stored in secure and dry warehouses to ensure it is in good condition when it reaches affected families.

John Deere also distributed a free budget and loan calculator on Friday, November 11.

People affected by climate change risk conflict and other problems from falling behind education for economic development.

Sometimes we are able to procure them, back to the situation, back at home, back in the city. This is very important, and it means that we are not alone.
